The Nature of Money.

To the Editor of the Tribune : In the Tribune of August 24th, in your remarks upon the work entitled "Usury; The Evil and the Remedy,' you say, "We do not quite agree with its fundamental proposition that 'Money is a mea-'sure of value,' and that only. Unquestionably the most 'frequent use of money is to measure value. But when a 'man borrows $10,000, does he merely borrow something to 'measure with? Does he not rather in effect borrow real value? though of what precise kind depends upon his own choice. If he wants to buy a farm with it, then he in sub-stance borrows the farm, and so if his need be building, pro-visions or whatever. He does not borrow something where with to measure the sums due his laborers, &c., but the actual means of paying them, exactly as though he bo rowed ten thousand bushels of wheat and agreed to pay seven hundred bushels a year for use until he could return

I have, Mr. Editor, carefully read the essay, and have arrived at a different conclusion from yourself. I think it is clearly shown that ' Money is only a measure of value'; and had the author pursued the subject farther, he would probably have furnished more evidence and other illustrations. If you will re-examine the author's remarks upon this point, I believe you will be convinced that there is no value in money as such except what is given it by law. It is never in itself, to any great extent, the product of previous labor. I saw in your paper of the 23d instant, a visit by Mr. Weed to the Bank of England, in which he mentions that while in the Bank he lad put into his hands £2,000,000 sterling, say $20,000,000—more, he thinks, than all the wealth of John Jacob Astor. Now, Sir, do you suppose there had been that amount of labor spent to make this money? From the description given of rolling and numbering the sheets, the whole of them did not cost more labor when performed than a man would do in one week hocing potatoes.—Therefore this money is not the product of this immense labor, but it will measure the $20,000, labor. I saw in your paper of the 23d instant, a immense labor, but it will measure the $20,000 .. 000 worth of labor when performed, or buy the amount in farms or other things as the holder may choose. Just so a yard-stick may measure twenty million yards of cloth, and though the yard-stick would not be worth as much as the cloth, still it is necessary to have it, and it is more necessary to have money for the exchange of products than to have the yard to test the length. Suppose a man without food or clothing to be cast on a desert island and a ship to pass by laden with gold, and he were to borrow of the Captain a hundred guineas in gold, what relief would the gold or any other kind of money, paper or specie, be to him? 'Should he borrow the same amount in flour and other provisions, clothing, &c. which this gold or money is made by law to represent, his condition would be bettered, but he would be in no manner benefited by the money. Suppose a dozen men were on this island a vessel passing laden with ground plaster of Paris, they should procure a barrel of it from the Captain, who tells

This beat is now ready to receive freight, and will leave on them it is flour. Should they all believe it to be Friday, 7th April. flour, make it into bread and cat it, would this belief make it sustain life? Not at all, it would not invigorate the system, nor answer the purpose for which they had designed it. But suppose a man to pass to you, Mr. Editor.

a counterfeit dollar, whether of silver or paper, he and you both believing it to be good, and the same dollar should continue for a thousand years to pass from one to another, each and all believ. ing it to be good, it would answer the purpose for which it was designed as well as a good dollar. When it was discovered to be a counterfeit, the holder would lose what this measure of value would represent in property and he would be defrauded of the amount, because it was put in circulation contrary to law and was a fraud on the public. If I have not succeeded in removing your doubts of money being a measure only, I must sec still stronger objections than those already made to convince me that it is any thing clse when used as a currency. Although I formerly entertained a different opinion yet "Usury; the Evil and the Remedy," has proved to me that it is nothing but a measure.

Mr. A. F. Whittemore:—Sir—In Angust last I had a severe diarrhoza on me for several days. I thought it a good opportunity to make a trial of your Vegetable Syrup, which you sent me some time previous. The experiment resulted in an effectual cure, after taking the third dose. In my opinion it is a valuable medicine.

them with pure Milk.

BUSHWICK, October 11th, 1811.

Dear Sir—I received yours of the 6th inst. yesterday afternoon, and, according to your request, hasten to give you an immediate answer.

In relation to your Medicine, I most willingly say what I know of its good qualities. Between my family and friends, we made use of both bottles we received from you. In the first place, I had considerable distress in my bowels at two different times, and each time I took some of your medicine, and received almost immediate relief. We tried it on one of our little ones, and it produced a similar effect. We let a sister, Mrs. Rider, have some of it for her babe, a child that had had the bowel complaint for some days very bad, and she made use of it with equal success, and thinks there is no medicine to equal it for children who suffer from that complain. She has recommended it to several of her friends, and is willing that her name should be joined with ours, as believing it to be the most effectual cure for that complaint that we have ever made use of.

The public are particularly cautioned to beware of counterfeits, to detect which they have only to examine the directions around each bottle which will invariably be signed by the proprietor in his own handwriting.

SCARPA'S OIL FOR DEAFNESS.—Important for the Deaf.—We commend to the particular attention of those desirous of having their hearing restored "Scarca's Oil for Deafness." We hear it highly spoken of by those who have used it, and who of course know its value.

My Dear Sir—It has become so common lately to puff medicines by letters, that I would now refrain from any expressions of my feelings or opinion, did I not feel compelled to speak in justice to you, and out of a desire to serve my fellow men. You remember with what reluctance I was induced to try Scarpa's Oil for Deafness, for I felt convinced, aftermany uneffectual attempts, that a deafness of ten years' standing speak in justice to you, and out of a desire to serve my fellow men. You remember with what refuctance I was induced to try Scarpa's Oil for Deafness, for I felt convinced, aftermany ineffectual attempts, that a deafness of ten years' standing could not be curred by any medicine; but will you believe it when I tell you on my second bottle I can hear almost as well as any member of my family. The effect upon me has been magical—my former existence seems like a dream; and the pleasure of listening to and hearing conversation carried on in an ordinary tone of voice, after being so long subjected to the use of the ear trumpet, is almost transporting. I do not much like to have my mame in print, but as the above statement may do some good, I have no objections to your using it.

Mr. B. Barton Gumpert, Philadelphia.

Dr. B. Bell—Dear Sir—I take this opportunity of expressing my gratitude to you for the great benefit I have received from the use of "Scanar's Oil." for Deafness. From a cold I caught six years ago I had become quite deaf; so much so that I lost all relish for society. But I left it mest in my business. I was really quite tired of doing business—it was so much an effort for me—I had tried a number of Physicians and got no better, and thinking very little of patent medicine, I thought my case was hopeless; I was, however, induced, when in your city last summer, to try "Scarpa's Oil." I have been using it now about two months, and I think I hear as well as ever. I feel as though I was the happiest man in the world, This Oil may not cure every one, but as it has done me essential service, I would recommend it earnestly to all the deaf.

CURE OF DYSPEPSIA AND DROPSY.

Mr. Kelly—Dear Sir—I have been afflicted for 3 or 9 years with a distressing pain in my stomach, costiveness in my bowels, my limbs very much swellen. After eating my meals I was in great distress for a short time, and then threw up what I had eaten. In short, sir, I have scarcely found rest or comfort during that time. I have tried all kinds of medicine that I could think of, to little or no advantage, and had almost given my all hopes of ever getting any relief, being now 68 years of age. I saw the advertisement of your Double Extract of Sarsaparilla Candy, and I thought I'd try once more. I have taken it now about 6 weeks, and it has completely regulated my system. I now eat any thing that comes before me, and have not been sick since I commenced taking it. I sincerely and heartily thank God, and render my good will and thanks to you, for I believe your Gandy has been the means of giving me health and comfort in my old age. You are welcome to make any use of this you may think proper.

DANDRUFF, or Loss of Hair, is caused by a languid or obstructed circulation in the small blood-reach which supply the scalp and hair with nourishment, in consquence of which the perspiration becomes thick and clamp and dries on the surface forming a crust, called dandruff, while clogs up the pores of the skin, and by its pressure against the roots of the hair prevents it from receiving sufficient nourisment to retain vitality. The hair then becomes harsh and in pleasant, changes color and falls off. This unhealthy affection is very speedily and effectually cured by JAYNES HAIR TONIC, which revives the dorman powers of the surface vessels, removes the dandruff, and produces a new as healthy growth of hair to supply the old; and haldness is personned.

Messra A. B. & D. Sands: Gentlemen—As an act of junite to you and Dr. Jayne, I send you this certificate to inform you of the invaluable benefit my wife has reserved from the use of the invaluable benefit my wife has reserved from the use of Dr. Jayne's Hair Tonic. She lost not only her entire heald hair, but her eyebrows also; and after trying various remelies with no benefit, he used Dr. Jayne's Hair Tonic. She used two bottles before we could discover the hair had started, use commencing with the third, it started to grow out finely, used in a few weeks head and eyebrows were covered with a third growth of fine black hair, better than she had lost. I think was entirely produced by the use of the Tonic, and would commend it to all who need a similar remedy.

Truly yours, JOHN N. JACKSON.
